Field of Interest Grants

Overview: Field of Interest Funds support organizations working within a specific geographic region; toward a specific purpose, such as supporting the arts or education; or with a specific population, such as children or the elderly. Each Fund was established by a donor with a specific charitable purpose in mind and, in perpetuity, CFL will continue to support the issues that the donor cared about most.

Application Period: Online application in January.

Amount Awarded: Several grants totaling $10,000-$15,000 each year (varies each year). Most funds are awarded through the Fund for Louisville grant process.

Health Equity Fund

Overview: In 2016, Louisville received national recognition and designation as a Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Culture of Health Prize winner. The Community Foundation of Louisville, The Humana Foundation, Jewish Heritage Fund for Excellence and Metro United Way pooled funds together to offer grants to Louisville nonprofits that meet defined criteria and have equity as a core value.

Application Period: Next cycle TBD.

Fund for Louisville

Overview: Created by visionary philanthropists who wanted to support their community today and beyond their own lifetimes, the Fund for Louisville allows the Community Foundation to respond to emerging needs and opportunities in the Louisville area. The Fund currently offers capacity building grants to nonprofit organizations doing substantial work in parts of Louisville most impacted by longstanding disinvestment and underinvestment.

Application Period: Online letter of intent opens: July 8, 2019. Full applications requested: August. Grantees announced: December 2019. Grant year: Jan – Dec 2020.

Amount Awarded: 19-22 grants totaling approximately $374,000.
